

DESIGN THINKING

The APP miro program is a very useful tool for remote team work. In the development of projects, it is always very interesting to have a global view of the work as it develops.

The tool allows you to make outlines of the ideas you want to work on, in this graphic way it is much easier to have an overview of the contributions of the team members. At the same time, it allows tasks to be organized by optimizing decision-making processes and simplifying communication channels. It can also be used to carry out brainstorming to channel the different contributions of the team and subsequently organize them and to finish we can also highlight it for the possibility of timing the tasks of the different members of the team and go observing the evolution of our work.

We can consider it an intuitive, practical and visual program.

Here the link.

